

Eyre Highway Upgrades

New eastbound rest area

We are constructing a new eastbound rest area on the Eyre Highway near Iron Knob to improve safety, amenity and access for all road users. These works are funded by the Australian (80%) and South Australian governments (20%) as part of the Roads of Strategic Importance (ROSI) program.

What's happening:

Works will involve the construction of a new eastbound rest area on Eyre Highway, approximately 24km east of Iron Knob.

How this affects you:

To do this work safely, there will be speed restrictions in work areas. Please plan your trips, be cautious around workers, and follow the speed limits and signs.

Eyre Highway will remain open at all times with speed restrictions still in place outside of work hours. During the works, there might be some noisy disruptions from time to time, but we'll do our best to keep the noise to a minimum.

You might also notice some odours, which is normal during sealing work. Speed restrictions will remain in place for approximately one to two weeks to allow for final line marking to be completed. Following these works, speed limits will return to normal.

The existing westbound parking area on the Eyre Highway will remain open throughout the works.
